

amazon.com

Week Five Leadership Tool

160 Minutes w/ Friedman

Buy Now

Product Description

Week 5- New Tool Added and Thoughts Before Use

- Am I putting myself in the position of greatest opportunity?
- Though Bubbles = things not specifically written out, but need to get done → dont leave them in ambiguity
- Create Actionable steps after office hours/feedback for improvement
- Makegood
  - How I will make up for a mistake I made
  - Everybody makes mistakes but it's how you respond to them
- #1 Thing People Want = be treated with dignity and respect
- Leadership = the art of convincing others to want to struggle for shared aspirations
- 5 Principles
  - Model the way = set an example by aligning actions w/ values
  - Inspire a shared Vision
  - Challenge the process = experiment and find innovative ways to solve problems
  - Enable others to act = promote goals and build trust
  - Encourage the heart = show appreciation for work done by the team
- SRA = take responsibility and accountability for actions
- Emails need to be better

Tool Description

This week 5 tool helps me do a re-evaluation of my life. It makes sure that my actions are aligned with my goals. It also helps me understand the importance of making things right after you screw up. This tool also shows me how to become an effective leader through the five principles. Furthermore, it lets me know that I need to take the initiative to achieve the things I want to in my life.

Customer Reviews

★★★★★ Using Week 5 Leadership Tool – Thought

Verified Student

Am I putting myself in the position of greatest opportunity?

Thought about how I am definitely not. Things gotta change.

★★★★★ Using Week 5 Leadership Tool – Thought

Verified Student

Enable others to act = promote goals and build trust

Thought about how this is the hardest for me. I often lack the courage to speak up and motivate people

★★★★★ Using Week 5 Leadership Tool – Thought

Verified Student

SRA = take responsibility and accountability for actions

Thought about QBQ - you can always do something to change the situation.

★★★★★ Dropping out of Club

Verified Student

Dropping out of Club:

- Following the September 22 class session, I decided to drop out of a club I was a part of called Assett Management Club. Last year, I joined the club because I thought it would be good for my resume for future employers. I went through a tough 3 part interview process to join the club.
- Despite this, I left. I really never enjoyed the club at all. It pained me to go to all the meetings and just sit there wanting to leave. The club also took up time during the week. I had to make stock presentations and do market research. This did not align with my goals or passions. So, I decided to send an email to the club president and have more time to spend working on my business.

The screenshot shows an email conversation. The subject is "Re: Asset Management Club". The recipient is "Cameron" and the sender is "Bennett Geissler <geisslbg@miamioh.edu>". The date is "Mon, Sep 22, 3:17 PM". The message content is as follows:

Hello Cameron,

I hope you're doing well. I wanted to touch base with you about my involvement in the Asset Management Club. I've really enjoyed being a part of it, but I've also been spending more time focusing on my business lately, and I'm not sure how consistently I'll be able to participate this semester.

I wanted to get your thoughts. Is there a way to still stay engaged in the club without being as active week-to-week? I value what the club offers and would like to contribute where I can, but I also want to be realistic about my time commitment.

Thanks for everything.

Best Regards,
Bennett Geissler

Below the message is a red square logo with a white letter 'M' and the text:
Bennett Geissler
Class of 2028
Finance/Entrepreneurship
Miami University
Farmer School of Business
T: 419-341-4603 | MiamiOH.edu

Customer image

★★★★★ Obituary + Values Assignment

Verified Student

Obituary + Values Assignment:

- This assignment allowed me to get a better grasp of what I care most about as well as how I want my life to be lived. My findings showed that I care most about achievement, growing as a person, and wealth.
- From my obituary, I realized that I want to be known as someone who forged their own path and used their success to help other aspiring people. I also want to be known as a family-oriented person and a super hard worker.

- This really made me reconsider my “why”. Mainly, why I am even choosing to build my own business. What am I looking for as the end result?

Customer image

★★★★★ No Wasted Time

Verified Student

No Wasted Time:

- After thinking about whether or not I'm putting myself in the position of greatest opportunity, I realized I was far from it.
- I began brainstorming ways I could fix that, and one was not spending as much time on my phone. I had a really bad habit of coming home from class and watching YouTube for hours. This really didn't accomplish anything at all.
- Now, after class, I simply get some lunch and then turn my phone on do not disturb. I then proceed to first get school assignments done and then move on to the business side of things.

Customers say

This tool made me take action on a lot of things. I realized that if I wanted to achieve my goals, I had to change up some things. Dropping out of the Asset Management club allows me to spend more time on the things I care about. Putting down my phone allows me to get so much more done by allotting more time for me to work on school + my business. Whenever i am about to do something, I now think through the lens of “will this help me get further along on my journey?”